

Case Study - John Lewis Bathrooms

ABISS was asked to implement the full bathroom range review program within the John Lewis stores. The project included rip out, make good, decor (including painting and tiling) and the installation of the new bathroom ranges. The review was over 5 weeks and was completed with a full digital sign off on each store. ABISS consolidated and returned to each store for the remedial process including liaising with the stores to ensure the project was completed with the minimum disruption to store sales and trading.
